5 U.S. Airmen May Be Red Prisoners

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — Five U.S. Air Force men stationed at a French air base in Tourane are missing and American officials fear they may have fallen into the hands of the Communist-led Vietminh.

The U.S. Embassy said a Vietnamese peasant had reported seeing five Americans among a group of 20 Senegalese war prisoners 10 miles south of Tourane.

Gen. John O'Daniel, chief of the American aid group, flew today to Tourane on the central Viet Nam coast midway between Saigon and Hanoi to conduct an enquiry.

Salem Man Among 5 Hurt In Accidents

William Boyles, 59,
Hospitalized; Two Injured In Damascus

Five persons were injured in three traffic mishaps investigated by state patrolmen last night and this morning.

Two men were hospitalized as the result of a four-car crash at 9:40 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Routes 18 and 45 in North Jackson.

In fair condition today at Youngstown South Side Hospital are William Boyles, 59, of 1299 S. Lincoln Ave., facial lacerations and a possible fractured skull; and Robert Ellis, 20, of Dayton, facial lacerations.

Patrolmen said cars driven east on Route 18 by Ellis and Samuel Oakes, 22, of RD 1, New Milford collided with an auto operated by Glen Culbertson, 33, of RD 4, Lisbon, which was southbound on Route 45.

The impact threw one of the vehicles into a car parked on the north side of Route 18, near the intersection, in which Boyles was sitting.

Patrolmen are still investigating.

Two Youngstown people were hospitalized as the result of a traffic mishap which happened at 5:20 p.m. Thursday on Church St. in Damascus.

The accident occurred, patrolmen said, when Mrs. Pearl Hunsinger, 64, driving south on Route 534, attempted to make a left turn onto Church St. The driver failed to straighten out the auto after completing the turn, causing it to strike a house owned by the Damascus Friends Church, patrolmen said.

Mrs. Hunsinger sustained lacerations of the right elbow and left hand, and her husband, Raymond, 66, a passenger in the car, received a head injury.

3,418 Children Of School Age In Salem District, Survey Shows

The Salem school district enumeration begun in May by D. C. Phillips, attendance officer, shows 3,418 children of school age residing in the Salem district, compared to 3,308 a year ago.

This district includes all of Perry Township and the Franklin Road area of Salem Township.

All children born in 1949 are eligible to enroll in kindergarten next September and those born in 1948 are eligible for the first grade.

Pre-school health forms have been sent to 320 potential kindergarten students, Phillips said. Of this number, he added, about 270 are expected to enter in the fall.

Since there are 84 six-year-olds who were not among the 216 in kindergarten last year, approximately 300 will be entering next year's first grade, 250 in public schools and 50 at St. Paul's Catholic School.

While this is a drop from the peak 415-pupil first grade of last year, Phillips explained, it is higher than the 250 average of the last seven years with birth rates showing yearly increases to another peak 400 in both 1957 and 1958.

Parents of children eligible to enter Salem schools for the first time in September, who either have moved into the district or were inadvertently missed due to being away during the census, should telephone Superintendent E. S. Kerr's office, 5107, during the day, or Mr. Phillips, 3388, in the evening, so they may receive pre-school health forms and any other information they may desire relative to enrolling their children.

Goshen School Fire Probed

Arson Attempt At
Damascus Is Hinted

An apparent attempt to burn Goshen Union School near Damascus is under investigation by arson detectives of the State Fire Marshal's office, it was learned today.

The blaze was started at the school a week ago Thursday, but Damascus Volunteer Fire Department Chief William Bauman says his department was not notified of the fire or called in to investigate.

Mahoning County deputy sheriffs at Sebring held a preliminary probe of the fire and then reported their findings to the fire marshal's office and sheriff in Youngstown for investigation by the arson division.

Deputy William Campbell said someone set afire a bunch of papers in a storage room above the auditorium. The floor was charred by the blaze, but the damage was slight, he said.

The damage was discovered Friday by the janitor. The fire was discussed by the Goshen Board of Education Wednesday night.

School Superintendent C. G. Long said today he knew of no cause for a fire attempt and had no report of any progress on the investigation.

Young People Busy At Youth Canteen

Newly-appointed Memorial Building Youth Canteen supervisor Joe Boone today announced a temporary junior board of directors to assist him getting the center ready for operation as soon as possible.

Boone named William Potts as chairman of the temporary board. Mary Campbell, Nancy Cosma, Bob Talbot, Mike Lutsch, and Sandy Hansell comprise the rest of the board.

The permanent junior board will be elected by members of the center when it is officially opened.

Boone said the youths would begin work Monday evening on cleaning furniture and painting floor space.

Boone said that, with dozens of students pitching in, work would soon be completed and the center open for operation shortly.

The Rotary Club voted Tuesday to sponsor the project for one year.

Cerebral Palsy Association Has Election

Rev. Frederick T. Gillette, pastor of St. Stevens Episcopal Church of East Liverpool, was elected president of the Columbiana County Chapter of United Cerebral Palsy Association Thursday night at St. George's Church parish in Lisbon.

Attorney Lawrence W. Smith Jr. of East Liverpool was elected first vice president; Harold D. Smith of Salem, second vice president; Mrs. A. J. Pandia of Homeworth, recording secretary; Glenn Schotten, public relations; Mrs. Alice J. Bair of East Liverpool, corresponding secretary; and O. A. Naragon of Salem, treasurer.

Dr. Alexander S. Fisher of East Liverpool, a member of the state Cerebral Palsy Medical Advisory Board, said a basic step for the county affiliate would be to ferret out individuals afflicted with the crippling disease.

O. M. Ott, regional U.C.P. director, stated here last month, "It is believed at least 300 cases of palsy exist in Columbiana County."

Dr. Fisher said a considerable number of palsy patients, many with sound minds, are crowded in with mental patients at state institutions.

Mrs. Pandia declared state U.C.P. workers believe homes could be established for the afflicted, rather than committing them to mental institutions. She and Mrs. William Bower of Homeworth toured the state cerebral palsy center in Columbus earlier this month.

Dr. Fisher said several Ohio chapters are setting up medical centers for treatment of patients.

Fire Contracts Here Available For Signing

Fire Chief Clarence W. Wright today urged persons living outside Perry Township who wish to enter into fire protection contracts with the city to come to his office to sign agreements for such protection.

The fire protection was made possible by a recent city ordinance authorizing the fire chief or the city safety director to make such contracts with persons or firms outside the city limits, but within five miles of the city.

The agreements do not apply to residents of Perry Township because the city already has a contract with the township trustees to furnish that protection to township residents.

Under provisions of the fire protection ordinance, the city will enter into contracts with owners of private dwellings for a charge of $5 per year, plus an insurance policy or cash deposit of $100 for each fire run made to the dwelling.

Merchandise buildings, schools and churches will be charged $10 per year, plus an insurance policy or cash deposit of $100 for each fire run to the property, and factory owners would be charged $75 per year, with the sum of $300 included in the insurance policy clause.

Assembly Okays Mendes-France As New Premier

Socialist Promises
Peace In Month; Sets
Search For Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—Pierre Mendes-France set about organizing a new French government today to deliver the Indochina peace he has promised within a month. But his Cabinet apparently will not include Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, the nation's negotiator at the Geneva conference.

The National Assembly approved Mendes-France as premier early today after the 47-year-old Radical Socialist (moderate) outlined a three-point program, including a promise he would reach an Indochina settlement before July 20 or resign. The vote was 419-47, with 154 deputies abstaining. Communists supported him.

The new Premier offered his program as a three-stage project, leading off with the Indochina peace. When that was achieved, he said, he would:

1. Submit a "coherent and detailed program for economic recovery."
2. Attempt to reconcile the divisions within France on the European Defense Community Treaty to rearm West Germans in a six-nation European army. Of the six nations, France and Italy still must ratify it.

Bidault's absence from the new government appeared certain after his Popular Republican Movement (MRP) announced it would not take part in Mendes-France's Cabinet.

Damascus Groups Plan Youth Center

Damascus took one step closer toward the realization of a Youth and Community Center Wednesday evening when heads of religious, civic and social groups met at the Methodist Church to plan a permanent organization.

The new group will formulate bylaws and work toward the purchase of nine acres of land west of Quaker Canyon which is now under option to the Damascus Ruritan Club.

Presidents and chairmen of the various groups were appointed to a committee to effect the permanent organization. The group has 90 days to raise the purchase price while the Ruritans hold the option.

The next meeting of the committee has been scheduled for Friday, June 25, at 8 p.m. at the Methodist Church.

Jean Stille Assumes Duties As Home Demonstration Agent

Miss Jean Stille of RD 4, Salem, a June graduate of Ohio State University, began her duties Thursday as a full-time Columbiana County home demonstration agent.

A home economics major, she fills the position vacated by Mrs. Ruth Pendry who resigned in December because of ill health. Miss Stille worked three months as acting home agent early this year, then returned to Ohio State to complete her studies.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Curney Converse of RD 2, Columbiana, Mrs. Elden Groves of RD, Salem and Mrs. Richard Calvin of Lisbon.

Miss Stille, a former International Farm Youth Exchange student to Norway, will travel to Camp Whitewood in Ashtabula County where she will help train camp counselors. She will also be a staff member at junior 4-H camp July 29-Aug. 2, at senior camp Aug. 2-6, and at farm homesteaders camp, July 15-18 at Camp Crag in Summit County.

At Ohio State, she was a member of Omicron Nu and Phi Epsilon Omicron, home economics honorary societies, the Home Ec Club, the International Farm Youth Exchange Committee and the Ohio Folk Festival committee.

Stevens Defends Army Integrity

Sees No More Abuse
By Committee Probes

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens, looking back on the long and bitter days of his dispute with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), voiced confidence today that "the integrity of the Army no longer is at stake."

He also made it plain he intends to decline an invitation to an after-the-hearings cocktail party to be given Monday by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) for participants on both sides—and expects no Army personnel will attend.

Mundt presided over the 36-day hearings, which ended in Washington yesterday.

Stevens, here for a four-day meeting of top Defense Department and armed forces officials, also told newsmen:

1. "I am absolutely confident that there will be no abuse of Army personnel, in or out of uniform, who appear from now on before McCarthy's Communist-hunting subcommittee. One of the background issues in the row with the senator was Stevens' contention that a general who appeared before McCarthy had been abused."
2. He has no intention "whatsoever" of resigning, but proposes to serve as long as he is of "service to the country."
3. "I feel that the integrity of the Army was at stake. We've been through that now. It must be abundantly clear to everyone that the Army is just as interested and active in ridding itself of subversives as anyone else in the United States."

Boy Scouts To Attend Summer Camp

About 80 Boy Scouts from troops in North Georgetown, Columbiana, East Rochester and Wellsville will be packing this weekend for a week of fun and learning at Camp McKinley. Summer camp opens Sunday.

The boys will establish camp at four sites on the 130-acre reservation near Lisbon, some in tents and others in wooden shelters.

Bruce Nichols, camp director from East Palestine, said the Adirondack-type wooden shelter is more popular among scouts than tents. Three sides of the rustic shelter are closed and four boys can sleep in one.

Nichols and Arnold Elser of Columbiana and other scout leaders have been busy the past two weeks setting up sites and getting the camp in order for the largest influx of boys since the camp began in 1937. Eugene Molenaur, field executive, said over 250 scouts are expected between Sunday and the closing day, July 17.

Rifle ranges have been set up for scouts interested in learning marksmanship. Nichols said. Six new 22 caliber rifles have been purchased. Ross Ludwig, Boy Scout executive, and Dave Fugate of East Liverpool will have charge.

Elser and George Tompkins of Wellsville will handle instructions in crafts and Kenneth Taylor of East Palestine will teach life saving and swimming.

Hugh Nile of Wellsville will give instructions in leathercraft.

Most of the boys will eat in the dining hall, although the scouts can bring their food and cook in the field, Nichols said. Mrs. Matilda Ingledue of Lisbon is cook.

Mrs. Nichols, a registered nurse, will be in charge of the sick bay.

1,000 Sign For Pool Lessons

Swimming Classes
Run Through Summer

Approximately 1,000 Salem persons have registered for free swimming lessons at the new Centennial Park swimming pool, John Cabas, pool recreational director, announced today.

The busy schedule includes children's classes in beginning and intermediate stages, adult classes, junior and senior life saving instruction, and synchronized swimming.

"The interest and response to the new pool has been wonderful," Cabas said. He pointed out that, in addition to the gratifying turnout for lessons, large crowds of between 600 and 700 have turned out daily for general swimming up until yesterday's cooler snap.

In regard to the lessons, Cabas pointed out that the adult classes held every Monday and Thursday evening from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. are continuous.

Turn To RUMMAGE, Page 5

They will run all summer and swimmers can enter the class anytime. The adult classes are for beginners, intermediates and swimmers alike.

Classes for the juvenile division are being run in periods. The current series of classes will terminate July 2, and a new group will begin July 6 and run through July 26. This period is designed especially for the juvenile division.

Sen. Potter Says Both Sides Have Been Convicted

Proposes Firings;
Secret Sessions On Decision Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slorn of its television trimmings, the Senate Investigations subcommittee starts in secret today what promises to become a bristling argument over who lied in the McCarthy-Army controversy.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) put other members on edge by asserting that both sides had convicted the other of "pressure" and "blackmail" charges and declaring that a perjury case might be made against some of the 30 witnesses heard in 36 days of public hearings.

Potter did not point a finger at anyone in his statement yesterday. But he proposed that some of the "employees who have played top roles on both sides" be dismissed from their jobs. His use of the word "employees" indicated the Michigan Senator was willing to shift the blame below the rank of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and probably Secretary of the Army Stevens.

No Other Comment

Other members of the subcommittee declined to comment on the statement which overshadowed the traditional amenities uttered at the window of the 14-million-word hearings late yesterday. "Absolutely no comment," said McCarthy, who repeatedly defended his two staff aides directly involved.

McCarthy wound up the testimony at the inquiry into charges that he and Roy M. Cohn, his subcommittee's chief counsel, exerted improper pressure in efforts to get Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

McCarthy and Cohn counter charged that Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" in attempts to sidetrack a McCarthy investigation of alleged Communists in the Army.

The public din was over, at least

County Polio Chapter To Plan '55 Campaign

LISBON — First plans for the 1955 March of Dimes campaign will be made at a dinner meeting of the Columbiana County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Tuesday night at 6:30 at the Wick Hotel.

About 25 are expected, including officers of chapters in the community and chairmen who served in the 1954 campaign in January, according to Mayor E. Alan McKeever of East Liverpool, chairman.

Chapter officers are to be elected. Present officers, in addition to Mayor McKeever, are Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, vice chairman; Mrs. Winifred Byers of Salem, secretary; and C. H. Musser of Salem, treasurer.

County co-chairmen of the last campaign were John Litty and Attorney Donald Shay of East Liverpool.

Lower Prices On Many Items Seen Before Summer Is Over

NEW YORK (AP)—Pressure on the pocketbook is easing a little here and there as summer comes. There's hope today that before the hot weather is over, you may see still lower prices—if only slightly lower—on a few of the things you buy.

Competition among salesmen, and a growing abundance of raw materials and manufactured goods, are the underlying causes.

Wholesale food prices have already dropped. Talk of lower prices for still more foodstuffs is being heard.

Bargains appear more frequently at the clothing counters.

Gasoline cuts appear in scattered areas—despite the insistence of oil industry spokesmen that general price cuts are unlikely.

If you're building a house this summer you'll find prices of a number of building materials a little lower than a year ago.

Counter to all this good news for the consumer, however, is the tendency of most basic raw materials to hold firm in price.

There is a good deal of talk of higher prices for the basic commodity, steel. Much of the talk is based on the bargaining just now between management and labor over new pay contracts. Talk of higher prices usually is spread around during such bargaining periods. But it is taken seriously enough this time, apparently, for a number of steel users to step up their ordering now to beat any possible rise in prices.

The carpet makers are beginning to hike their prices. They cite an increase in the cost of carpet wool. And they point to the high operating costs which made many companies look bad profitwise in their first quarter earnings statements.

But thrifty shoppers have been doing pretty well for some time now in the stores in many lines—food, apparel, household appliances.

Some of the lower prices you find in the shops aren't reflected in the factory price lists. Merchants have shaved retail prices for promotion purposes, or granted discounts or generous trade-in allowances.

Some merchants say they are looking forward to seeing these unofficial lower prices openly listed by some factories this fall.

Mail order houses, whose sales have been trailing last year by a greater margin than retailers in general, are starting to lower their prices in the catalogues.

Prices in the new fall book of Sears, Roebuck, for example, average out 3½ per cent below its last fall catalogue. Sears says its prices this fall will be the lowest, on average, since 1950.

Milk, cheese and ice cream prices should come down, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says, perhaps with a little wishful thinking.

Pork prices at last are tending lower. A big spring pig crop coming to market this fall should whittle a few cents off a chop.

Wholesale food price indexes are now at their lowest in three months.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' wholesale price list for commodities in general has been slipping recently. There's a fair chance that by fall it will be at a new low for the post-Korean War period. It hit its record high in March of 1951.

Manufactured products have a stubborn price floor under them, however, constructed of high operating costs, including labor, and in many instances of high raw material costs bolstered by various government policies.

The consumer's chances of price cuts in these products lies in the sharp sales competition among companies now that most of them have more capacity to produce than they have customer demand.

'Drape-Style' Haircut Removed by Court Order

BALTIMORE (AP)—The "drape-style" haircut of 16-year-old John Powell was transformed by court order yesterday into a crew cut similar to the one adorning the head of the officer who arrested him.

Patrolman Joseph Engle picked up young Powell to ask him what he was doing on a fire escape in the early morning hours.

When Powell appeared in court, Magistrate Reuben Caplan was too fascinated with the long temple locks which ended in ducktails at the back of the head to even hear the case.

"You look like a wild man," commented the judge. He told young Powell to get his hair cut "like Patrolman Engle's" and return.

When he returned, the judge inspected the job, then dismissed Powell.

Jackie Gleason Signs Separation Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—Television star Jackie Gleason has signed an agreement giving his wife a separation, custody of their two children and 14½ per cent of his gross salary in alimony.

Terms of the agreement between Jackie and his wife Genevieve were announced yesterday in a written statement which corrected a previous report that the alimony figure would be 15 per cent.

Gleason earned $336,000 last year. If his earnings continue on that scale, the payments will amount to nearly $50,000 a year.

Gleason claims he retained only $63,000 after taxes in 1953.

The Gleasons were married in 1936.

Guests With $55 Phone Bill Sneak Out Of Hotel

Lisbon Legion Minstrels End 9th Successful Season

LISBON — Cast of the American Legion Minstrels has put aside their costumes after another successful season — their ninth.

Complete with interlocutors and black-face end men, the Lisbon Minstrels concluded their entertainment presentations Sunday when the troupe visited the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe.

There the Lisbon men, veterans themselves of World Wars I and II, performed for the sick veterans at Chillicothe.

Because of the popularity of the Minstrels, plans are being made to entertain soldiers at other veterans hospitals like Crile and Aspinwall, but this cannot be arranged before next year.

William Frew is director of the Lisbon Minstrels which John J. Welsh Post 275, American Legion, took over from the Lisbon Kiwanis Club in 1946 after a number of Lisbon men had returned from the service.

Since then the Legion Minstrels, presented annually before Lisbon audiences, has received wide acclaim. Beare of large crowds, the show is given on two successive nights in April in the Lisbon High School auditorium.

Faust, Robert Fife, L. S. Firestone, Bill Frew, Jr., Mike Garick, Byron Griffith, Bill Haffley, A. I. ## R. E. Foley Quits As Vehicle Registrar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Robert E. Foley yesterday submitted his resignation to U. C. Felty, state highway safety director. Felty said he did not request it.

Foley, registrar since March 1, 1950, succeeded Frank Quinn, who resigned to campaign unsuccessfully for state treasurer. Quinn now is with the traffic safety section of the state utilities commission.

Foley said he has been considering "several different business offers for quite some time" and wanted "a more permanent security for my family." He said he considered it an honor to serve as registrar.

Felty said he has no idea who will succeed Foley.

19 Policemen Raid Nude Show At Baltimore Club

BALTIMORE (AP)—A flying squad of 19 policemen early today raided the Oasis night club, Baltimore's most famous night spot to out-of-towners, and arrested everyone in the place, including the orchestra and patrons.

Lt. Joseph Byrne, vice squad chief, said he acted on complaints there were nude women in some of the acts. "We found them," he said.

Police used a patrol wagon shuttle service to haul an estimated 20 persons to central police stations.

As she climbed in the wagon, one blonde entertainer said in a complaining voice: "Why, it was just a little ole girl doin' a little ole dance."

GAMBLING BUSINESS GOOD

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Holders of federal gambling stamps in the 21-county northwest Ohio district are doing a $1,000,000 business in the fiscal year ending this month, the internal revenue bureau office here reports. The bureau can estimate this because the stamp holders are supposed to pay the government 10 per cent of the amount of the bets they handle. Ninety-five stamps have been issued in the area.

DEMAND SLAYING REWARD

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Aroused citizens here yesterday presented a petition bearing 117 names to county commissioners demanding the county post a $50 reward for the arrest of the slayer of David B. ## Russia, Iran Sign New Agreement To Barter

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Russia and Iran have signed a new barter agreement sharply stepping up Soviet shipments of industrial equipment and durable goods.

In the new pact — effective May 1, 1954, through March 31, 1955 — Russia pledges to send 68 million rials worth of agricultural machinery to Iran, plus 20 million rials worth of electrical equipment. Iran will send fish, lead and tin, ore, skins and other products.

In last year's pact the total such shipment reached only 32 million rials. The rial's official rate is 32.5 to the dollar.

Insects Invade Gardens In Columbiana County

LISBON — Thrips in flower beds and in vegetable plots are uncommonly prevalent this year, judging from reports from gardeners over Columbiana County, Floyd Lower, agricultural extension agent states.

Especially heavy populations of the tiny insects have been found on roses. Many rose growers who have observed their blooms have not been doing as well as they normally do, have found the sucking insects on their plants.

Lower said DDT will kill the thrips, which also attack fruits, vegetables and field crops.

Candidacy Of Red Hands Legal Problem To Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The candidacy of William Allan for a City Council post has created a tough legal problem.

Allan, correspondent for the Communist Daily Worker, has been convicted of violating the Smith Act by conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence. He now is free on bond pending an appeal.

Michigan's Trucks Act bars subversives from running for office. But the constitutionality of that act now is before the courts.

So the City Election Commission has asked for legal advice as to whether Allan's name can be placed on the ballot.

1956 A Long Time Away

President Eisenhower has sidestepped the first press conference question about his intentions in 1956. The subject will be wide open from now on.

The political intentions of a first-term president are one of the key realities of the two-party system. If President Eisenhower announced before next November that he would not seek re-election, there would be a scramble among congressional candidates to disentangle themselves from the very coat-tails they now are grasping for on the assumption Eisenhower will continue to be the country's dominant political figure for the next two years.

When he sidesteps a question about his intentions with the half-joking explanation that he doesn't know, he undoubtedly is telling the truth. In midsummer of 1954, the political events of 1956 are a long time away.

Something has happened to the former idea that the presidency of the United States, once possessed, becomes so desirable its possessor never gives it up voluntarily. Even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who held on to the presidency longer than anyone else, made no secret of his belief it had grown too burdensome for human endurance.

Calvin Coolidge and Harry Truman surrendered presidential nominations they could have had. By hindsight, it seems likely Herbert Hoover may have congratulated himself many times after his defeat in 1932 as he realized what would have happened to him had he won.

President Eisenhower has no reason to be coy about his political future. When he says he doesn't know how things will look in 1956, he undoubtedly means that the outcome of events now in the making can change his mind.

He entered politics in 1952 to lead a moral crusade, according to his own explanation. He could not have foreseen the harrowing political circumstances which have materialized since his inauguration a year and a half ago.

Under some political circumstances, the presidency would not be worth seeking for a man whose ambition is to lead a united nation.

Elyria Precedent

The reasoning of Common Pleas Judge Arthur D. Tudor in refusing to grant the city of Elyria an injunction against the Ohio Turnpike Commission is cogent and compelling.

The state of Ohio, explains Judge Tudor, has authority over general matters—such as turnpikes—which cannot be set aside by local interests. This is a statement of the right of eminent domain.

According to Webster, eminent domain is the "superior dominion of the sovereign power over property within the state which authorizes it to appropriate all or any part thereof to a necessary public use, reasonable compensation being made."

The Ohio Turnpike Commission in this instance is assumed to possess the state's right of eminent domain. The law setting up the commission, whose income is obtained from the sale of revenue bonds to investors, specified that it should have authority to appropriate property and rights of way for its lawful purposes.

But eventually it must be determined in a test case whether or not such a commission can proceed on the precedent established in the Elyria case; i.e., that the Turnpike Commission has complete right of eminent domain in dealing with minor units of government as well as individuals and private organizations.

The Turnpike Commission expects to build other superhighways, in addition to the first one. The Elyria precedent, whatever it proves to be, may be called on many times in the next generation.

No Hopes Stirred In June, 1954

When the first news of anti-Russian demonstrations in East Berlin last June 17 leaked out a year ago, its significance was missed. It was not to be known until many days later how violent and widespread the demonstrations had been.

What started as a minor incident in East Berlin spread like wildfire in the following days. Every important city in East Germany had riots. The anti-red contagion spread to cities in Poland. There was trouble in Czechoslovakia. Hungary had trouble, too.

For a fortnight after the first outbreak, the Soviet Union's European satellites quivered on the brink of revolution. The hearts and hopes of their people were stirred.

But there was no stirring on this year's anniversary of the first demonstration of potential revolt behind the Iron Curtain. Since June 17, 1953, there has been a systematic weeding out and destruction of potential leadership.

The terror of the police state has reasserted itself over the freedom instinct of the millions who live in the shadow of the Kremlin.

Their dreams and hopes have been crushed by the ever-tightening shackles of slavery under an order which makes of the politician a human god and of his subject a faceless slave.

Oppenheimer Furor

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Scientist Condemns Self By Own Admissions

A determined effort seems to have been made by "left wingers" to discredit the Atomic Energy Commission and particularly its chairman, Lewis S. Strauss, whose heroic defense of the security of the United States deserves instead the highest plaudits of his countrymen. His chief sin in the eyes of the "left wingers" is that he has lined up against Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer.

The official release of the entire transcript in the proceedings which led to the judgment that Dr. Oppenheimer is a security risk and should not be employed by governmental agencies hereafter is a sensational revelation. But this document and the report of the special board headed by Gordon Gray do not tell the whole story.

The fact is that Dr. Oppenheimer strayed outside the field of science and, for example, urged that in the event of war the strategic air command of the U.S. Air Force should not be used if the other side would agree also to refrain from using theirs, which was relatively small. This was first disclosed in an article appearing in "Fortune" magazine in May 1953 which was written by Charles J. V. Murphy, who had just finished a tour of reserve duty as a colonel in the Air Force and as aide to the late Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

WHY SHOULD a scientist—and an influential one who could bring to bear the united influence of many of his colleagues—try insistently to give advice during top-level secret conferences on what the American military position should be? The Gray board's report had in it this guarded language:

In evaluating advice from a specialist which departs from the area of his specialty, government officials charged with the military posture of our country must also be certain that underlying any advice is a genuine conviction that this country cannot in the interest of security have less than the strongest possible offensive capabilities in a time of national danger.

"We must make it clear that we do not question Dr. Oppenheimer's right to the opinions he held with respect to the development of this weapon (the H-bomb). They were shared by other competent and devoted individuals, both in and out of government. We are willing to assume that they were motivated by deep moral conviction.

"We are concerned, however, that he may have departed his role as scientific adviser to exercise highly persuasive influence in matters in which his convictions were not necessarily a reflection of technical judgment, and also not necessarily related to the protection of the strongest of offensive military interests of the country.

"In the course of the proceedings, there developed other facts which raised questions of such serious import as to give us concern about whether the retention of Dr. Oppenheimer's services would be clearly consistent with the security interests of the United States."

Most significant also is a letter from William L. Borden just now made public in the official proceedings of the hearings of the Gray board. Borden was executive director of the staff of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy from January 1949 until June 1953.

HE SERVED under the late Senator McMahon who was chairman of the committee. Before entering on these duties, he had been a pilot in the Army Air Force for three years and served overseas. He is a graduate of Yale law school. On November 7, 1953, after he left the committee, he wrote to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, outlining his suspicions about Dr. Oppenheimer based on a careful study of all classified data to which he had access. This included almost everything related to atomic energy matters in the government. Borden wrote in part:

"The purpose of this letter is to state my own exhaustively considered opinion, based upon years of study, of the available classified evidence, that more probably than not J. Robert Oppenheimer is an agent of the Soviet Union.

"This opinion considers the following factors among others: He was contributing substantial monthly sums to the Communist party; his ties with Communism had survived the Nazi-Soviet Pact and the Soviet attack upon Finland; his wife and younger brother were Communists; he had no close friends except Communists; he had at least one Communist mistress; he belonged only to Communist organizations, apart from professional affiliations; the people whom he recruited into the early wartime Berkeley Atomic Project were exclusively Communists; he had been instrumental in securing recruits for the Communist party; and he was in frequent contact with Soviet agents."

In addition, Borden charged that Dr. Oppenheimer was a vigorous supporter of the H-bomb program until World War II ended and that he then urged each senior individual in his field to desist as was "Remarkably instrumental in influencing the military authorities and the Atomic Energy Commission essentially to suspend H-bomb development from mid-1946 through January 31, 1950."

BORDEN ASSERTS that Oppenheimer "more probably than not, has since (mid-1942) acted under a Soviet directive influencing United States military, atomic energy, intelligence, and diplomatic policy," and points out that "It is to be noted that these conclusions correlate with information furnished by Klaus Fuchs, indicating that the Soviets had acquired an agent in Berkeley who informed them about electro-magnetic separation research during 1942 and earlier."

What is particularly damaging, however, are several of Oppenheimer's own admissions which are revealed in the official testimony, such as his confession that he lied to a security officer of the United States Army about a contact with him attempted by a Soviet agent and that he did not reveal the true facts until some months later. Obviously the furor about the Oppenheimer case isn't just a matter of views or opinions but concerns specific acts that resulted in the decision to refuse to give him security clearance for the future.

Someone Always Pays

The people at our school who take charge of raising money to buy pianos, uniforms, playground equipment and the thousand and one things not taken care of in small-school budgets have sent me a peck of decorated paper to sell at the going price, which is five for a dollar.

The decoration describes certain merchandise to which the bearer of the paper may be entitled if certain things come to pass in a prescribed way on a certain evening in the middle of next month.

This is the standard method employed throughout this part of the country to underwrite the money-raising festivals, fairs, homecomings and so on which are the financial backbone of hundreds of community enterprises.

The way it works out is that most of the people who buy the decorated paper feel they have made a donation to a good cause.

If they did not exist, tax rates would have to rise by leaps and bounds some places or a lot of things wouldn't be done anymore in the style to which many people have become accustomed.

It's interesting to think about some of these devices for raising money because what they turn out to be in practice is just a lot of ways to do in a roundabout fashion what probably would be done better in a straightforward fashion.

For example, there is the bake sale. The kids tell their mothers there is going to be a bake sale, the mothers bake a lot of stuff, take it to the sale, buy back a lot of stuff baked by other mothers and the kids pocket the money. Everything considered, it would be a whole lot simpler for the mothers to give the kids the money in the first place.

Back home, the ladies of the church used to have chicken suppers to underwrite their good works. They would knock themselves out preparing chickens, noodles, peas and cole slaw by the wagonload for hungry hundreds, composed mostly of their own long-suffering families.

In due time, of course, every sucker I have tapped will be around for revenge when it is his turn to sell chances on a self-cleaning plow, or peddle memberships in some organization that exists to raise money for good works.

"George insists he doesn't know enough to become head of his department, but I keep telling him he does—he's been there six months!"

"Who's Wavering?!"

Workable Propaganda

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Sen. Jackson, who on television looks like the eternal collegian, young, fresh, buoyant, had a wonderful time with himself making fun of David Schine's plan for psychological warfare. I have seen dozens of such plans drawn up by so-called experts.

Sen. Jackson is not so dumb as to not understand that the word, "Deminform," however crude it may be etymologically, has the virtue of conveying a specific idea, namely, that as the Communists have established an information and propaganda section called the Cominform, so the so-called democracies should establish a similar fighting organization called Deminform.

JACKSON COULD not have failed to understand that but the Senators have all become accustomed to using their short stay on television to ham up their act to catch a laugh.

My reaction to the Jackson farce is that the word, "Deminform," is objectionable because there is not a democracy on the face of the earth, and because the United States is not a democracy at all, but a representative republic which sometimes suffers from a careless choice of representatives.

If as Schine wrote "fight fire with fire," then the materialism of Marxism can only be fought by the spirituality of religion.

Schine mentioned that in his memorandum and Jackson put on his innocent look, which tells me that he is about to be mischievous, and asked just whether Schine means that the religious groups were to be infiltrated?

I would not use the word, infiltrated, but the word, educated. The religious groups of the world are as shocked and surprised by the stupendous success of the Marxist church as President Eisenhower was at his press conference last Thursday.

MANY OF THE clergy have regarded Communism as a wild-eyed something or other, but they have failed to recognize the emergence of the Marxist church which now controls the lives of 800,000,000 human beings. It is a materialistic, atheistic, pragmatic church which is fighting Judaism, Christianity and Islam, as it must, because they represent the concept of a mystical God who revealed the Natural Law to man. By this revelation, man was given a moral system upon which he has based his entire life. To the Marxist, such a system is unscientific and therefore untrue.

I would recommend to Sen. Jackson Marx's essays on Feuerbach which are part of the canon of the Marxist church. Feuerbach (1804-1872) was a German materialistic philosopher who profoundly influenced Marx.

MARX STATES his case as follows:

"The great basic question of all philosophy, especially of modern philosophy, is that concerning the relation of thinking and being. From the very early times when men, still completely ignorant of the structure of their own bodies, under the stimulus of dream apparitions came to believe that their thinking and sensation were not activities of their bodies, but of a distinct soul which inhabits the body and leaves it at death—from this time, men have been driven to reflect about the relation between this soul and the outside world.

If in death it took leave of the body and lived on, there was no occasion to invent yet another distinct death for it. Thus arose the idea of its immortality which at that stage of development appeared not at all as a consolation but as a fate against which it was no use fighting, and often enough, as among the Greeks, as a positive misfortune.

Not religious desire for consolation, but the quandary arising from the common universal ignorance of what to do with this soul . . . after the death of the body—led in a general way to the tedious notion of personal immortality . . ."

KARL MARX'S eleven theses on Feuerbach, in my judgment, lay the basis for the dogma of the Marxist church. From this, it will be learned that for Marx the principal attack on our civilization must be on its religions, especially Christianity, Judaism and Islam.

Therefore Schine's suggestion of working through the churches and the clergy is sound and Sen. Jackson's levity was more plebeian than philosophic.

It is only through religion that Marxism can be destroyed; that is, through the acceptance of a mystical God who gave to man moral law. Marx laid this down as final:

"The philosophers have interpreted the world in various ways; the point however is to change it." And one of the changes he desired was to abolish God.

By TRUMAN TWILL

As long as it is merchandising gospel that women make most money-spending decisions in this country, I see nothing odd about the fact my wife buys my clothes.

Nor do I see anything to be ashamed of because she not only must look at me but has a better eye for fabrics, color and cut than I have, plus one other vital attribute.

She knows when I need clothes and has the resoluteness to do something about them. I neither know nor care. Left to my own devices in this matter, I would spend the rest of my life in a sweat shirt, a pair of blue jeans, and some old slippers.

In exchanges of gossip with other men in similar circumstances, I find most of them let their wives take charge of their wardrobes—not always with as good results as I have been getting. But as far as results are concerned, it takes all kinds of tastes to keep the marts of trade humming.

I have known two men whose uninhibited tastes in clothes caused them to wear suits which would have been suitable for burlesque skits. Yet neither of them was conscious of his bad taste until he acquired a wife who calmed down his appetite for the lurid. Someone must buy the lurid, or the market would be glutted with it.

We have just bought a new suit, my wife and I. She found it, inquired about it, decided it was "suitable" and began a pressure program. From time to time she would suggest that I stop by the store where the suit had been set aside for my inspection.

This went on for three weeks. In the meantime, the proprietor of the store made it known in a casual way that all it would take to close the deal was a few minutes of my time . . . just any Yesterday, the deal was closed. The lady who buys my clothes stopped by the store and picked up the suit. By way of comparison, she picked up another one, a little different.

She brought them to this my cubicle, of toil. She whipped them out of the box and held the coats while I tried them on. We chose the one she already had chosen.

Today I stopped by the store and the man did something about making the pants come out the right length. Being a perfectly proportioned specimen of the male gender, Size 38, I never need alterations.

And that's how "we" bought a suit, my wife and I. There is nothing unusual about this. Happens all the time in this country where women make most of the money-spending decisions.

The only reason for mentioning it here is to assure other men who are skittish about it that they are not alone. They are not being heckled. They are just coming to terms with the realities of existence if they let their wives take the initiative in these matters.

We know a man who buys many of his wife's clothes for the same reason. He knows his stuff. She is smart enough to admit it and take advantage of the probability he will buy better things for her than she would buy for herself.

P.S.: We played a trick. We bought an extra pair of pants. The lady will have a long, long time to get tired of this particular suit.

The God of metaphysics is but an idea. But the God of religion, the Maker of heaven and earth, the sovereign Judge of actions and thoughts, is a power.—Joubert.

The Show Closes

With the Potomac Players' spring TV production of "Monitor, Monitor, Who's Got the Stenographic Copies?" ended or nearly so, our final verdict is (1) There should have been more sawdust or tanbark in the center ring; (2) It was definitely proven that it is possible for a circus to run seven weeks without trapeze artists; (3) It was a mistake of showmanship not to have a chariot race at the finish of the hearings.

As far as the Pentagon-McCarthy fight is concerned it can only be agreed that both sides stuck their necks out too far and that neither had the type of neck that looks good on video screens. We make the following awards:

1-To Bob Stevens the loving cup for the witness most often chirping, "Will you have the question read over again!"

2-To Joe McCarthy the chafing dish for the man most frequently saying, "Just a minute; let me finish."

3-The season's pass on the Coney Island merry-go-round to Joseph Welch for the funniest line of the entire proceedings: "If you knew of a spy in the Army why didn't you rush over to the Pentagon, scream 'I've got hop dope on subversives' to the nearest receptionist, or yell 'Sic 'em, Stevens!'"

4-Prize for the second funniest line: To the same Mr. Welch for the query, "Isn't a check for thirty-two dollars for a dinner for three at the Stork Club pretty unusual?"

Best Judge of Poor Entertainment: Private Schine, as shown by his remark early in the hearings, "I'll leave now and come back only if you insist."

Question Most Often Asked by TV Audience: "What for?" in all cases where a senator remarked, "I have to leave, I'LL RETURN AS SOON AS POSSIBLE."

Second Most Often Asked Question: "Would America be safer if it chose its senators in bingo games or raffles?"

Standout Memory Sen. Jackson deriding a young man who, at an age when most kids are busy with hot rods and rumbas, takes the world crisis seriously enough to write a plan for psychological warfare, however simple. (Yes, Mr. Jackson, there is an Elks Lodge in Pakistan under another name and there is no country on earth which doesn't have something resembling the Moose, the Owls, the K, of C, and the Kiwanis clubs.)

Recurrent Impression: Dragging a young lawyer's name into the hearings was not sporting, but Mr. Welch's tears over "the scar that will last the rest of this boy's life" were not convincing in view of the fact he had devoted six weeks to the task of putting so many scars on three other young men (Chon, Schine and Carr) that they could all get jobs posing for adhesive tape and Red Cross bandage advertisements in drugstore windows.

Ring down the curtain boys. And don't forget the new Washington mandatory inquiry in opening all wire conversations: "In this two-person telephone conversation between how many people is it strictly confidential?"

General Motors is developing a jet car. . . . To the hills, men! This inspires us to renew our campaign for putting the bumpers on the pedestrians. The company also is trying out the turbine engine in trucks and buses, and if this doesn't stir up a record demand for fright-wigs nothing can.

B.B.T. says the phone call monitoring in Washington proves things have reached a point where the boys are spying on one another.

In Washington people now speak of making "persons to persons" calls.

Brownell Lashes At McCarthy Invitation For Secret Data

BALTIMORE (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell said last night Sen. McCarthy's invitation to government employees to come to him with information, even information they are charged with keeping secret:

Alleged Liquor Dept. Scandals To Be Probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Threatened investigations of state liquor agents accused of shakedowns in seven counties yesterday were topped by liquor department plans to launch its own probe.

The liquor department investigation began after Director Anthony A. Rutkowski and enforcement chief Edward J. Allen met with Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The meeting followed an indictment in Cincinnati of liquor agent Harry D. Thomas, 37, accused of accepting a bribe. He surrendered yesterday at Cincinnati and was released on $2,500 bond. He pleaded innocent.

The "shakedown" explosion occurred after a former liquor agent, William D. Morrison, 25, turned over tape recordings reportedly involving conversations with liquor permit holders. The recordings were given Hamilton County Prosecutor C. Watson Hoyer who described them as a "mass of evidence."

Counties concerned in the investigation are Cuyahoga, Franklin, Richland, Trumbull, Delaware, Lucas and Hamilton.

Some county prosecutors have asked to see the evidence to determine if indictments can be returned in the various courts. Franklin County Prosecutor Frank H. Kearns said he will call the grand jury into session if the information warrants such action.

Hoyer said the tapes will be turned over to county prosecutors concerned but it would be the middle of next week before they could be copied.

Both Allen and Hoyer said the recordings would not be released to the press.

Allen said every tip on alleged bribery or shakedown is being checked thoroughly by the department.

Morrison turned over his information to Hoyer after he was arrested with a 16-year-old girl in a Cincinnati hotel room and charged with contributing to the girl's lynchings. He was dismissed from the department.

1. Threatens the classic American concept of separation of powers among Congress, the executive and the courts.

2. "Would substitute rule by an individual for government by law." About 500 weekly newspaper editors and publishers attending the 69th annual convention of the National Editorial Assn. broke in to applaud when the attorney general declared:

"Anyone who attempts to put himself above the law, and incite government employees to turn over classified information relating to our national security, is tragically mistaken if he believes he is helping to protect our nation's safety. 'Nothing pleases the Communists more than to create division among the people on matters of national security, impair constitutional government, and encourage disobedience to the law.'"

"I have spoken out pretty strongly against those in high places who are blind to the danger of Communist infiltration in our government. I believe it equally important to speak out against those who, regardless of motive, break down our system of government by law in an effort to investigate communism. There is no need of it."

Brownell did not mention McCarthy (R-Wis) by name. But he quoted verbatim the statement McCarthy made during the Army-McCarthy hearings that it was the duty of federal employees "to give us any information which they have."

Brownell said this "open invitation to violate the laws of the United States would substitute rule by an individual for government by law."

France

Mendes-France told the Assembly:

"If the conflict in Indochina is not settled — and settled quickly — it is the risk of war, of an international war and perhaps an atomic war — that must be envisaged."

He did not outline any precise plan for achieving peace beyond continuation of the Geneva talks and a promise that "no measure will be neglected that shows itself necessary to this end." This implied direct negotiations with Ho Chi Minh, Moscow-tutored leader of the Vietnamese rebels in Indochina. Mendes-France has consistently urged such negotiations in the past.

The new Premier declared, however, that every possible precaution would be taken to safeguard France's forces in Indochina. He also declared his plan did not envisage a surrender.

"France does not have to accept and will not accept conditions for settlement which would be in conflict with its vital interests," he declared. "France will remain in the Far East. Neither our allies, nor our enemies must harbor the least doubt on the meaning of our determination."

Today's Assembly vote saw Communists, Socialists, Radical Socialists, a big bloc of De Gaulleists and scatters from other parties lined up behind Mendes-France. Independent Republicans and MRP members mostly abstained, but eight MRPs disobeyed party orders to vote for confirmation.

These eight gave Mendes-France six more than the needed 314 votes, even without the 99 Communists and fellow travelers who balloted for him. The Premier had warned the Assembly earlier he would not accept the premiership if his majority was made possible by Communist votes.

The victory made the economic and financial expert France's 14th Premier since the liberation. His Cabinet will be the nation's 20th postwar government.

A brilliant orator, Mendes-France failed by 13 votes to win the premiership during a 37-day government crisis last year. The job was finally won then by former Premier Joseph Laniel, who resigned Saturday after losing an Assembly confidence vote on the Indochina issue.

No Leads Found To 4 Escaped Convicts

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Poses

searching for four armed men who escaped from Roseville branch of the Ohio Penitentiary Wednesday said today they had received dozens of tips but no real lead.

As the search continued through hilly, wooded country near the prison, penal authorities met at Roseville to discuss the break.

Maury Koblenz, chief of the state division of corrections, said there is a "physical weakness" at the "maximum security" prison but declined to elaborate. He met with Deputy Warden J. S. Thompson of Roseville and said he plans to confer with Ohio Penitentiary Warden Ralph W. Alvis.

Thompson said the area near Roseville at the Muskingum-Perry County line is ideal for evading capture. He said it is marked with coal strip mining sites and is almost impossible to search except on foot.

The men escaped during a recreation period from the prison yard after stripping a guard of his rifle and shotgun. Thompson said the men also apparently used a pistol in disarming the guard.

temporarily, but the subcommittee apparently faced the prospect of issuing two or more reports — a point on which Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said there is likely to be an immediate showdown.

He said the subcommittee would meet during the day to begin its closed-door deliberations, but no time was fixed.

McCarthy, who stepped off the subcommittee for its investigation of his dispute with Stevens and Adams, served notice he wants to resume his Communist hunt after a brief vacation.

But Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said before that starts he wants the regular subcommittee to vote on retaining its 14 staff members. This move seemed directed primarily at Cohn — and possibly a couple of other staff employees.

Cohn said he had heard of no effort to relieve him, but predicted that if it develops the four subcommittee Republicans will support him. McCarthy called the 27-year-old Cohn "one of the most valuable men I've ever had work with me," and voiced hope his colleagues on the subcommittee wouldn't fire him.

May Include Carr
There was no clear indication whether any outer move might include Francis P. Carr, chief of the subcommittee staff. Carr was dismissed as a principal in the case when subcommittee Republicans overrode Democrats on a 4-3 vote May 26.

Stevens got in one of the last licks by proxy yesterday when Special Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch succeeded in reading to the subcommittee and the radio-television audience a letter from the Army secretary.

Stevens attempted to puncture McCarthy's contentions that the Army secretary was "pushed" into filing formal charges by advice from Sen. Symington (D-Mo) and Clark Clifford, onetime special counsel for former President Truman.

Stevens said he was advised by Symington and Clifford in a 20-minute talk not to appear before McCarthy's subcommittee in a row over what the secretary termed McCarthy's "abuse" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker as a witness.

He didn't take the advice, Stevens said, adding that his only other contact with Clifford had been a telephone call to tell him that.

Potter's Statement on TV
Potter, who read his statement on television only after the hearings officially closed, said he was "convinced that the principal accusation of each side in this controversy was borne out by testimony."

"There is little doubt that the testimony of witnesses of both sides was saturated with state-ments which were not truthful and which might constitute perjury in a legal sense," he said.

He said a criminal case against "some of the principals" might be developed if they were required to repeat their testimony before a grand jury.

He said he believes also there may have been subornation of perjury — the inducing of someone to lie under oath.

The transcript of the hearings has been going daily to the justice department for study as to whether any prosecution is warranted.

Potter said that some on both sides of the dispute "have demonstrated a failure to understand the obligations that go with employment by the government." In his connection, he said that since the subcommittee staff was investigating the Army "there never should have been at any time conversation about a commission or the military status of one of its members."

"On the other hand, top executives of the Army should never have encouraged this sort of thing and should have put an end to the discussions for their own protection and in order to avoid what occurred later," he said.

Although the equestrian statue of Gen. Andrew Jackson in Washington, D.C., is the oldest in the United States, it was not the first such statue. A gilded lead statue of King George III was dedicated at Fort George, N.Y., in 1770, but was torn down in 1776 by a mob of patriots. Later the statue was melted into bullets for the Revolutionary Army.

Guatemala Revolt May Start Today

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Armed Guatemalan exiles were reported massing along their jittery homeland's frontier with Honduras amid indications today may be today for a revolt against President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Communist-influenced regime.

The belief stemmed in part from Guatemalan Ambassador Amadeo Chinchilla, who said he had received reports that resistance forces would launch a rebellion today.

Reports from censorship-blanketed Guatemala said authorities there were readying a massive public demonstration today. Ostensibly this was to show solid support for the government, but observers here also interpreted it as a possible move to mobilize pro-Arbenz forces in case of a revolt.

Dispatches from Guatemala said 100,000 laborers were expected to parade through the streets of Guatemala City.

Here in the Honduran capital, armed khaki-clad men—apparently recruits for the exile resistance movement directed from here by Carlos Castillo Armas—continued to leave the city, presumably for the border.

A two-engine transport plane with drawn curtains airlifted a dozen men out of Tegucigalpa last night. The group carried side arms and lugged a radio and several wooden crates aboard.

Earlier reports said an armed boat pulled out of the Honduran port of La Ceiba and headed for Guatemala. Informants said it was moving into position for a strike against the major Guatemalan port of Puerto Barrios.

Castillo Armas, however, was still at his headquarters in Tegucigalpa yesterday. In a rallying call from there, he said his forces "will not cease our victorious fight until we eradicate communism and expell Arbens and his followers from the sacred soil of Guatemala."

Carpenters Go Back To Atomic Plant Jobs

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—Some 1300 carpenters striking for a wage increase returned to their jobs at the Portsmouth Area atomic energy plant site in Pike County this morning. About 350 cement finishers, also on strike, remained idle.

The plant's prime contractors, Peter Kiewit Sons Co., made the announcement that the carpenters were back on the job.

The Atomic Energy Commission's labor-management panel had asked the strikers to return to their jobs before it started considering the wage dispute.

Albert Carver, business agent for the cement finishers union, said the men would not return to work today despite the carpenters' action. The plant now employs 20,000 men.

The 1,300 carpenters had threatened to throw up picket lines that might have halted all work on the huge project. So far, no crafts have set up picket lines.

Lolita Lebron Vows To Fight For Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lolita Lebron, convicted with three men for wounding five congressmen but facing a lighter sentence, swore today she will continue to fight for Puerto Rican independence.

"What I thought was the end may be the beginning," she replied from her cell to written questions from newsmen.

"If all my blood had spilled it would have splashed away decadence and inertia. . . . I hope no more of my people will have to die. My country is going to be free."

The slight, 34-year-old brunette, much of the fire apparently gone out of her when the two-week trial ended yesterday, was acquitted of five charges of intent to kill. She had been found guilty Wednesday of five counts of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Her three fellow members of the radical Nationalist party of Puerto Rico—Rafael Cancel Miranda, 25, Andres Figueroa Cordero, 29, and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28—were convicted Wednesday on all 10 counts.

Thus, they face possible maximum penalties of 75 years in prison apiece, including concurrent sentences for intent to kill and assault with a dangerous weapon. Mrs. Lebron, convicted only on the latter charge, could get no more than 50 years in prison.

Wounded in the House shootings were Representative Alvin H. Bentley (R-Mich), Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), George Fallon (D-Md), Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa) and Kenneth Roberts (D-Ala).

Marciano Retains Title In Bruising Bout With Charles

Decisions Challenger After Losing Early Rounds; Charles May Get 2nd Try In September

By MURAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"He gave me a helluva fight. He deserves a return fight if he wants it."

Thus spoke heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano after his thrilling, come-from-behind 15-round decision over game, undaunted Ezzard Charles in a savage scrap in Yankee Stadium last night.

"I want him again," snarled the battered, unfazed 32-year-old Charles. "I thought I won. I think I came closer to knocking him out than he did me. The next time it will be different."

The lean Cincinnati Cobra, who failed for the second time in an attempt to become the first ex-champion to regain the heavyweight crown, may get his chance in September.

"Charles is entitled to the return," said Al Weill, manager of the all-conquering Brockton Bruiser. "It was a great show and a great fight. If Rocky's cut comes out okay, I'd say a September fight with Charles in New York is a great possibility."

"If not Charles," continued Weill, "maybe that Engli hman — Don Cockell — or maybe the winner of the Hurricane Jackson-Nino Valdes fight (they meet in Madison Square Garden July 14) if they put on an exciting fight. Say, wasn't that a great scrap?"

It was that, and more. Practically every one of the 47,585 paying customers, who contributed to a gross gate of $543,092, left the ball park raving about the slam bang brawl, one of the outstanding heavyweight tussles in years.

"It was as tough as my first fight with (Jersey Joe) Walcott, maybe tougher," said the 29-year-old unbeaten Marciano, who went 15 rounds for the first time in his career. It was only the sixth time Rocky had to win by votes of the officials and one of the very few in which he failed to floor his opponent. He swept his other 40 by knockouts.

For four rounds it was all Charles. The 185½-pound, 18-5 underdog boxed beautifully. Then the 187½-pound Rocky, bleeding profusely from a wide, inch-and-a-quarter gash over his left eye, came on.

The muscular, bulldozing champion almost put Ezzy away in the sixth, kept driving until he was ahead slightly by the 10th, and then almost stowed Charles away several times in the later rounds. In the last, he battered the swollen-faced, hands-down challenger all over the ring.

The officials' votes brought no protests except from the Charles camp. Referee Ruby Goldstein had it 8-5-2; Judge Harold Barnes, 8-6-1; and Judge Arthur Aidala, 9-5-1. The Associated Press score card had Rocky far in front 10-4-1, giving the champion every round from the fifth on with the exception of the seventh. That round was called even.

Rocky's purse, not counting the movies which may prove to be a bonanza, came to about $275,961. Charles collected approximately $137,980. That included their share of the gate, the approximately $188,000 from the telecast to 61 theaters in 45 cities, and the $35,000 from the network radio broadcast.

The gash over Rocky's left eye—opened in the fourth round—required 10 stitches by Dr. Vincent Nardiello. The physician cut away some old scar tissue in his post-fight operation at St. Clare's hospital. Charles required some treatment too for his swollen features.

The broad-shouldered, leant-hipped challenger said he was "doing all right" until he was hit in the Adam's apple.

"He's strong and throws a lot of punches but he didn't give me as tough a fight as Walcott did," Ez said. "In fact, all (four) of my fights with Walcott were tougher. He didn't hurt me near as much as Walcott did."

Rocky said he was "surprised by Charles' ability to take a punch and by his power. I just couldn't get going early. I guess I was dull. But at the finish I was plenty fresh, not the least bit tired."

Through the first four rounds Charles bewildered the slugging champ with left jabs, hooks and rights and successfully tied up the flat-footed, stalking Marciano.

Rocky unlimbered his left hooks to take the fifth. In the sixth the often wild—swinging Marciano rocked Charles with a terrific right to the jaw and solid hook to the stomach.

"I dazed him but the bell saved him," said the Rock.

The 10th was another big round for the champ and he almost felled Ezzy with his looping "Suzy Q" right. In the 11th he came close to dropping his taller rival with a right and a blazing hook to the body.

Charles fired back often enough but his punches had lost their steam. In the final round as Rocky went out to clinch the verdict, Charles barely staved off a knockout.

White Sox Trip A's 6-4, Yankees Breeze Past Orioles, Red Sox Lose Again, Giants Pad Lead

By BEN PHILEGAR

AP Sports Writer

If the Chicago White Sox intend to be pennant contenders the next time the New York Yankees come to visit, they better figure some way to beat the champs in the four-game set starting tonight.

The Yanks won't be back in Chicago until July 27 and by that time it may be too late. In fact, the way Cleveland has been going, it just might be too late for either the Yankees or the White Sox.

This is especially true since the Indians figure to fatten up on the hapless Boston Red Sox while second-place Chicago and third-place New York are tangleing with each other.

So far, Paul Richards hasn't had much luck in keeping his "go-go" Sox going against the Yankees. They won their first game with the Yankees this season, then lost six in a row before salvaging the finale of the four-game series in New York last weekend.

All three American League leaders won yesterday. Cleveland ran its winning streak to eight games with a 6-4 triumph over Washington. The White Sox outlasted Philadelphia 6-4 and New York breezed over Baltimore 9-2. Boston lost its ninth game in its last 10 starts, 2-1 to Detroit.

In the National League, the New York Giants pulled two games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers by shading Cincinnati 2-1. Brooklyn lost to Milwaukee 6-4. Philadelphia and St. Louis played the longest game of the season—15 innings—before the Phils won 3-2 with Robin Roberts going all the way. Chicago was rained out at Pittsburgh.

Cleveland jumped away to a three-run lead in the first inning against the Senators as Frank Shea walked two men and hit one. Vic Wertz doubled and Wally Westlake singled. The Washington runs came in the seventh when Early Wynn walked the bases loaded and in the ninth on Mickey Vernon's two-run homer.

Gus Zernial, who had been feuding with Manager Eddie Joost of the Athletics, came off the bench to deliver a three-run, pinch-hit homer at Chicago. His blast followed a bases-empty homer by Bill Wilson. But the A's were trailing by six runs by the time they found the range and they couldn't catch up.

Baltimore's defense fell apart as the Orioles lost their third straight to the Yankees. New York wrapped it up with five runs in the sixth inning with the help of Baltimore's errors in fielding and judgment.

George Zuvernick had his sinker ball working to perfection against the last-place Red Sox. He walked nobody, stuck out nobody and didn't allow a hit in the last 4-2-3 innings.

The Giants beat the Redlegs without a hit. They got two singles, an hour apart, but their two runs came on a pair of walks, two errors and a force play.

Jim Wilson of the Braves, a no-hit winner his last time out, ran his string of hitless innings to 10 and scored six innings to 24 before the Dodgers broke into the scoring column. They pounded him hard, once they started, getting seven extra-base hits. But Milwaukee was hitting for distance too, and Wilson stayed on top.

Roberts scored the winning run in the marathon at Philadelphia. He opened the 15th by walking, moved to second on a sacrifice, to third on an infield grounder and scored on a single by Del Ennis. The Philadelphia right-hander didn't walk a man in the 15 innings. He struck out seven and gave up 10 hits. Bobby Morgan forced the game into overtime with a home run off Gerry Staley with two out in the ninth. Joe Presko took over at the start of the 13th and was he loser.

The Cardinals scored their first run on a homer by Bill Sarni and their second on singles by Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial plus a sacrifice fly by Ray Jablonski.

Trautman Says Minor Leagues Must Improve To Keep Crowds

By FRITZ HOWEL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minor league baseball, which has dwindled by 20 circuits in the last five years, must build a "better mousetrap" if it is to retain its present level.

So said George M. Trautman today as the president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues discussed frankly the problems confronting the smaller leagues. "It is disturbing," Trautman said, "that in our country's era of greatest prosperity, our national sport is having trouble."

"We are competing with a powerful agency. I speak of radio and television, the latter with its attractive programs which have created what might be called a multitude of '21-inch' alumni."

"Broadcasting and telecasting of major league games into minor league territory have been heavy contributors to decreased interest and attendance at our games, but these media are not the sole causes."

"Baseball must work harder than it has in the past if it is to get a reasonable share of the recreational dollar. Not only do the major league broadcasts hurt us at the gate, but the televised fights on the airways each night while our teams are playing also keep fans from the ball parks."

Trautman went on: "Within the next year or two we must try some revolutionary thing to keep us operating at a high level. I can't tell you what it is, for I don't know just yet. But

Bliss Defeats Diner; Eljer, Mullins Tie

Mullins and Eljer tied 8-1 and Bliss took Salem Diner 7-3 in pony loop play at Centennial Park Thursday.

After Eljer fought back from an 8-1 deficit to tie the game at the end of six innings, the game was called to enable the second contest of the evening to be played.

Eljer came up with three runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth inning to tie the score. Moe Meissner pitched for Eljer and Clyde Marks handled hurling duties for Mullins. The game will be resumed from the point at which it was terminated next Wednesday. In addition, Eljer also will play off a previous tie game with Bliss Wednesday.

In the other battle last night, Larry Phillis hurled a three-hitter to lead Bliss to its 7-3 win over Diner. The winners came from two runs behind, with a four-run fifth frame leading the way.

Mark Weber and Phillis were the hitting stars for the winners while Bob Stallsmith had two of the losers' three safeties.

one thing is certain, we must build a better mousetrap.

"We can't change our product too much, for baseball is just about the same as it was 50 years ago. The movies met the television assault by shifting to 3-D and wide screen innovations. But in baseball it's still 90 feet from home to first base, the pitcher's mound is 60 feet 6 inches from the plate, and the plate is still 17½ inches wide. We can't change those things."

Taking a look at the current season, Trautman said the minors had lost only three clubs—Jackson, Tenn., of the Kitty League, and Tampa and Miami of the Florida International. The Shelby club of the Tar Heel loop was "shaky," he said.

"But minor league baseball is still in business, and business is picking up," he said. "As in every season, the stronger teams are picking up in attendance, and the weaker ones are dropping. We started the season with 38 leagues, and we still have 'em."

"A checkup of opening day attendance in 36 leagues showed we were only 4,000 under last year's total at the gate. Spring weather, which has been poor the last five seasons, has been a factor in keeping attendance down somewhat, but a universal pick-up is now in progress. Some clubs and leagues are having difficulty, but all are battling to continue."

"I do not like to view with alarm, but I'll admit I am concerned over the future. All baseball is cognizant of the difficulties, and everyone is trying to help. One illustration to prove no one is giving up is that Knoxville will dedicate a new $500,000 stadium late this month—and no one is going to toss that much money into a venture in which he expects to lose."

Trautman said he might ask every club owner in the 38 leagues to call 100 telephone numbers picked at random to check on why folks are staying away from baseball parks.

"We tried it in one Texas city," he said, "and 40 per cent of those called said they stayed home to watch television. Another 20 per cent said they had planned to go to the ball park sometime during the season, but hadn't gotten around to it yet."

The minor league chief said he had looked over the financial pages in the last few days and found that some businesses were experiencing difficulties while others were booming.

"I'd say we were just about the same, and that we compare favorably with the business picture," Trautman said. "Some of our teams are doing well, some are just fair, and some are having trouble."

"And while I'm concerned, I'm not too worried. I don't know just what that 'better mousetrap' will be—but we'll build it. Minor league baseball will hold its place in the sports scene."

Charles Put Up Game Battle In Warding Off Marciano KO

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Ezzard Charles has joined the impressive list of those former heavyweight champions who tried to win back the title and found the burden too great, but none who watched the Cincinnati Negro take the terrible beating he did from Rocky Marciano last night will forget the stout-hearted display he gave.

In defeat, Charles probably knew his greatest hour. Never again will anyone in his right mind suggest that the man who plays the bass fiddle has no stomach for fighting.

Marciano, who has a burning ambition to be accepted as a great champion, probably made some progress toward that goal. He didn't win by a knockout, as it had been widely expected that he would, but he might have done something even more impressive in demonstrating that he could give a beating to a man of Charles' skill over the full 15-rounds.

If Rocky isn't great, he is a wonderful competitor. For the last 11 rounds he fought under the handicap of a cut over his left eye that streamed blood off and on and soaked both fighters. There is no man in sight now to stand against him.

On his score card the final tally was 9 rounds for Marciano, 4 for Charles and 2 so even that we couldn't split them apart. This was slightly longer in Rocky's favor than the consensus of the three officials, who were, however, unanimous in the opinion that the title had not changed hands.

There can be little question of which man took the greater punishment, Charles did, by far. Though Marciano shed the more blood, he never once gave any evidence of being hurt. Charles teed off on the solid Rock perhaps 50 times, flush on the button, yet not once did the champion flinch or back up or do anything except keep slogging forward to throw his bludgeoning left hooks and his looping right.

Charles, on the other hand, appeared very lucky to finish three or four rounds after Rocky first tagged him in the sixth with a left hook to the button and changed the entire aspect of the battle. Up to that time, it should be remarked the duel had been practically a one-way street for Ezzard.

Indians Defeat Nationals 6-4 For 8th Straight Victory

Tribe Opposes Red Sox Tonight

Wynn Gets 8th Win
Wertz, Doby Standout

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's first-place Indians face a team of welcome opponents tonight in the start of a four-game series against the last-place Boston Red Sox, who already have contributed five straight games to the Tribe's victory string of eight.

The Indians, who triumphed 6-4 yesterday in the last of a three-game stand against the Washington Nationals, are three games up on the second-place Chicago White Sox and four ahead of the New York Yankees.

Burly Early Wynn chalked up his eighth win in the last game against the Nats, though Bob Hooper came in to relieve him in the seventh inning after Wynn served up three walks to load the bases.

The Indians made the most of their five hits, against Washington's seven, running up three runs in the first inning. Vic Wertz doubled to score Rudy Regalado, who was hit by losing pitcher Frank Shea, who suffered his seventh defeat. Wally Westlake's single sent in the other two runs.

Wertz, who poked another hit yesterday, boosted his batting average to .350 for the two weeks since the Indians got him from Baltimore in a trade for pitcher Bob Chakales.

A former outfielder, Wertz has been playing first base since Al Rosen suffered a chip-fractured finger and left the lineup.

Wertz's other hit came in the third inning, sending Larry Doby, who had walked, to third base. Doby scored on Dave Philley's sacrifice fly.

Washington was scoreless until the seventh. After Hooper replaced Wynn, who had filled the bases on walks, Mickey Vernon hit a sacrifice fly, scoring one run, and other came in on Roy Sievers' single.

The Indians gained another run in the eighth, with Doby, who had doubled, scoring on another sacrifice fly by Philley.

In the Washington's ninth, Vern on hit his eleventh homer of the season, scoring Johnny Pesky, who had walked.

Pitcher Mike Garcia goes after his sixth victory in today's game against the Red Sox. He faces rookie Frank Sullivan. The Indians record against the Bostonians is 8-0.

Deming Upset By Parker's

Butler Grange, Tool Beat Lisbon, Mullins

In what league officials termed "the best night of action we've had this year," masterful pitching and the upset of the season held the spotlight in city softball play at Joe Kelley Field Thursday evening.

The big upset occurred when lightly-regarded Parker's turned the table on powerful Deming 6-5 in extra innings. Pitching strength was emphasized by Glenn Mercer's four-hit shutout for Butler Grange over Lisbon in a blistering 2-1 battle in which league-leading Salem Tool nosed out Mullins.

Parker's 6, Deming 5

In an extra-inning tussle, Parker's scored three runs in the seventh to send the game into overtime and came up with one more in the eighth to win. A pair of seventh frame homers and John Chester's eighth inning doubles were the big blows.

The losers came up with 13 hits and Parker's made seven errors, but Deming couldn't capitalize and left a staggering total of 12 men on the bases.

Parker's jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead in the top of the first when two-baggers by Tom Ehrhart and Stan Cosky led a three-hit attack. Deming countered with one in their half as Ed Duco scored on Dick Boughton's sacrifice fly.

Deming tied it in the fourth when three errors and Duco's bunt combined to score Ken Schoeni. Demings assumed the lead in the sixth as Boughton scored Duco with a single.

Going into the last inning with Deming on top 3-2, Parker's suddenly exploded with three runs as Ronnie Shaffer and Tom Ehrhart hit a pair of homers, the former coming with Dale Panzott on first, and Parker's led 5-3.

However, in the bottom of the seventh, Deming came on to again knot the count as Schoeni's ringing double scored Dick Wyss and Wayne Hahn to send the game into extra innings.

In the eighth, after George Mordew reached on a fielder's choice, John Chester lashed out double to score Mordew with the deciding run.

Duco and Schoeni had 3 hits apiece for Deming, which was last year's league champion.

Salem Tool 2, Mullins 1

The league's leading team and the league's leading pitcher were too much for Mullins last night. Undeclared Salem Tool, featuring speed ball king Billy Herman on the mound, nipped the Manufacturers 2-1 as Herman and veteran Johnny McQuiston hooked up in a stirring pitcher's battle.

Neither team scored until the fourth, when, Ed Weber's single sent John Drakulich across with Mullins' only run of the game.

Tool finally broke into the scoring column in the last of the sixth. Although McQuiston had pitched a beautiful no-hitter for the first five innings, Tool came up with both of their safeties in the sixth to take the win.

Johnny Volio broke the spell, getting Tool's first hit of the night, when he beat out a bunt. Tom Pastier sacrificed him to second and Volio scored on Jerry Ball's clean shot to left. Ball, who took second on the throw to the plate, came around to score on a throwing error two plays later.

Herman allowed six hits and struck out six. McQuiston struck out five and allowed two hits. Good fielding led to only one error, that by the winners. Tool has now won seven in a row.

Butler Grange 5, Lisbon 0

Glenn Mercer's four-hit pitching overwhelmed the outclassed Lisbon nine as a four-run rally in the fifth clinched the game for Grange.

Al Landwert was the hitting star for the winners, scoring the first run of the game after singling. In the big fifth, he smashed a three-run double to ice the verdict. Montgomery and Woods also had two hits for Grange while Paul Cartwright had two of Lisbon's four hits.

Mercer struck out five men as Grange racked up its fourth consecutive win without a setback.

Two of the nine area games carded last night were postponed because of bad playing conditions.

VFW, Fisher's Beat Mullins, Sekely's In Little League Play

In Little League action last night at Centennial Park, VFW edged Mullins 3-2 and Fisher's blasted Sekely's 11-2.

VFW scored runs in the second and third innings, but despite three hits in the fourth, failed to push a tally across the plate. However, they did manage to obtain the winning run in the fifth without a hit. Mullins scored in the third and fifth and threatened in several other frames.

Birchfield was the hitting star of the game, lashing out two hits for the losers.

In the other Thursday game, a five-run outburst in the second inning quickly iced the 11-2 decision for Fisher's over Sekely's. The winners had five runs on four hits in the second and three runs on four safeties in the third. Two base hits in the fourth accounted for another pair of runs.

Danny Krichbaum, Buddy Rottenborn, Watson and Swenningson all had two hits for the winners, while Elmer Smith came up with three hits and Paulini had two for Sekely's.

In action earlier this week, Electric Furnace nipped Sekely's 4-3 while VFW took Eljer 6-4.

A four-run rally in the bottom of the third inning led Furnace to its 4-3 triumph over Sekely's. Ned Chappell and Elmer Smith each had two hits for the losers.

A two-run rally in the top of the fifth broke a 4-all tie and gave VFW its 6-4 win over Eljer.

David Hunter had three safeties, and Bobby Potter and Morlan, two each to pace the winners. Schumacher, the winning pitcher, gave up only three hits.

Zulueta, Gonsalves Even For Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight contenders Orlando Zulueta of Cuba and Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., are rated even for their ten round television bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

In the fuss over last night's heavyweight title bout between Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles, the lightweights have been completely neglected. Nevertheless more people probably will see them mix than the heavyweights. Tonight's 10 p. m., EDT scrap will be telecast coast to coast (NBC).

The 25-year-old Zulueta is the second ranking contender and Gonsalves is ranked third.

Rankin Leads Ohio Senior Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The veterans came back to the Scioto Country Club course today for the final day crack at the Ohio Senior's golf championship.

Allen Rankin, 60, Columbus building and loan official, took a two-stroke lead yesterday in the first round with a par 72. If his playing is as good today he might win his eighth Ohio Senior championship in 10 tries.

Since he became eligible for the tourney at the age of 50, he has been defeated only by Walter Cope of Lima, this year's defending champ, and Tony Vitt of Cleveland.

Cope was 10 strokes off today with an 82, hampered by a heavy rain sweeping across the club's 7,061-yard course.

Eight players were unable to finish their first round because of the rain. They will complete the initial stretch and go on to the final 18 holes today.

Crowding Rankin is P. O. Cooper of Akron who shot a 37-37-74 to land only two strokes back. Cooper played most of his last nine in the rain while Rankin completed his round before the storm.

Cooper's 74 gave him the lead in the 50-54 year class while Cope's 82 led the 65-69 year oldsters.

R. M. Noll, 77-year-old Marietta veteran, broke 50 on each side of the course with a 48-47-95 to lead the 75-and-over section.

W. A. Haines of Troy, oldest man in the tournament at 85, had a 61-57-118.

Open House Set At Ernest Kochs

Couple To Observe 50th Anniversary

COLUMBIANA — Mr. and Mrs. G. Ernest Koch will observe their golden wedding anniversary with open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at their home, 427 S. Main St. No cards have been sent, but all relatives, neighbors and friends will be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Koch were married June 15, 1904, in the Lutheran parsonage at Petersburg by the late Rev. M. L. Eich. Her sister, Miss Arena Stiller, now Mrs. J. G. Weiss, and E. T. Coyle of Columbiana were the attendants.

Mrs. Koch, the former Miss Linice Stiller, is a daughter of the late Moses and Martha Yarian Stiller of Unity township. Mr. Koch is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Koch, old-time residents of Columbiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Koch have spent all their married life in Columbiana. He has been a life-long printer and was connected with the Columbiana Ledger in the early years after its founding Dec. 1, 1890, but for nearly 60 years has had a print shop of his own at 262 S. Elm St.

He and his wife are members of Jerusalem Lutheran Church. They will be assisted Sunday afternoon by their daughter, Miss Myrtle Koch, and their son, G. R. Koch, and wife of Knoxville, Tenn.

OFFICERS elected by the Ladies Auxiliary of Firestone American Legion Post at its June meeting Wednesday evening will be installed at the next meeting Wednesday evening, July 21, to serve 12 months.

Mrs. J. C. Horton was re-elected president. Remaining officers elected are: Mrs. Richard Sponseller, first vice president; Mrs. Waldo Schlag, second vice president; Mrs. Paul McNab, treasurer;

Mrs. Homer Stahl, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Robert Tieman, music chairman; Mrs. A. M. McLaughlin, historian; Mrs. Robert Barrow, chaplain; Mrs. R. G. Millen, corresponding secretary. A recording secretary will be elected later.

Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Barrow were elected delegates to the department convention in Cincinnati, July 30-August 1. Alternates are Mrs. Sponseller, Mrs. McNab and Mrs. Schlag.

The auxiliary voted to entertain the Columbiana County Council in Firestone Park at its meeting Tuesday, August 17.

MEMBERS of the Columbiana and Mahoning County Potato Growers' association, meeting at the Columbiana Farm Bureau Co-Operative, Tuesday evening, decided to have a twilight meeting at the Agnew farms, south of Boardman, at 7 p.m. Monday, August 2. A tour to Corry, Pa., Tuesday, August 17, is also under consideration.

Anthony Andrich of Columbiana, president of the association, said potato crop prospects are better than they were this time last year, but how the season may end could not be predicted.

The Columbiana Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Evan Roller, of 311 N. Main St., Tuesday afternoon, when members fashioned flower arrangements with flowers they took with them, and

Ducks Hatch, Building Job Can Be Resumed

SEAFORD, N. Y. — Homebuilder Louis Hirsch passed out cigars yesterday in celebration of the hatching of five little ducklings—an event which meant he could now get back to work.

He said he plans to have a bulldozer and crew back on the job Monday, resuming a ground-clearing job that for 25 days has been held up to permit a nesting wild Mallard duck to hatch her brood.

Hirsch said he figures the delay in the construction job, involving the erection of 49 new homes, has cost him about $6,000.

"It was worth it, though," he said.

200 Hunt Missing Girl, Later Found In Closet

TROY, N.Y. — Nearly 200 perspiring searchers last night combed bush and swamp for Holly Chase.

The 2-year-old girl had disappeared during a game of hide-and-seek. Seventy-five policemen, 30 firemen and 25 Boy Scouts joined neighbors in the search.

The firemen tackled a nearby swamp, laying down a board walk as they progressed. The cops manned searchlights.

Finally, 14-year-old Gail Fitzgerald recalled that Holly was accustomed to playing in a neighbor's house, and went there to investigate. She found her sleeping in an upstairs closet where the youngster had hidden 3½ hours earlier.

Kentucky Delays Action On Segregation Ban

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The State Board of Education has postponed any ban on segregation in Kentucky's public schools and instructed schools to operate through the next school year with the races divided.

The board said in a statement yesterday that it took the action because the U.S. Supreme Court has yet to issue final decrees on how and when its action banning segregation in the nation's public schools should be carried out.

INDUSTRY FORGES AHEAD

TEN MILES north of Boston, at Saugus, Mass., workers are busy restoring a part of America's industrial past. They are rebuilding major units of the first successful ironworks. This restoration, which will be completed in September, will bring back the days of 1646 when this ancient ironworks turned out a peak load of 160 tons in a year. A replica of the forge is almost finished and will soon join a replica of the old blast furnace. More than just a restoration, the project is a case history of the steel industry whose plants now make as much steel in 45 seconds as Saugus could do in one year.

Gloom Clouds UN Headquarters

By FRED SPARKS
UNITED NATIONS, New York—(NEA) — "Have you come to cover the funeral of the United Nations?" So spoke a friend as I entered UN headquarters in Manhattan. His gloom clouds every corridor in this modernistic glass pile built to house a brave new world in which justice would wield the only sword.

For now the diplomats play in Geneva the ancient game of power politics; tanks and planes are the cards — the Communists bet Dien Bien Phu and the French pass.

The UN as a meeting hall for peace is ignored by the contestants at Geneva, as it was ignored at last winter's Berlin conference. The three terrible issues of today — Korea, Indo-China, Germany — are out of UN hands. No wonder the talk of "funeral." The UN is being snubbed to death.

Ten years ago Winston Churchill was taking a bath in the White House when Franklin Roosevelt, elated over victories in the West, called through the door: "How about naming it 'United Nations'?"

CHURCHILL AGREED. And thus a tag was created for the organization that lifted the hopes of millions of white, black, brown and yellow people — and then drowed their hopes in a sea of words, words without deeds.

Ten years ago the politicians of the world spoke of a "new court of justice." And so the little people came for their day in court.

There was the intellectual Czech who told of police clubs that beat the freedom out of his country.

There was the man with skin like polished black tile who wanted to know why his African tribesmen could not walk the main streets of their own cities.

There was the hollow-eyed Ukrainian woman who thought something should be done for the 10 million shuffling shadows in the slave camps of the Soviet Union.

They came — and then they went home without results, broken, bitter, having learned that the old law of life had not been repeated: power still owns justice, might makes right.

In the wake of this disillusion has come a strange and often insane hatred. Match books are circulated in New York stamped with: "Get the UN out of the U.S. — and the U.S. out of the UN." Citizens who have seen so much of killing crowd the squares of Seoul to chant: "The UN has sold us out."

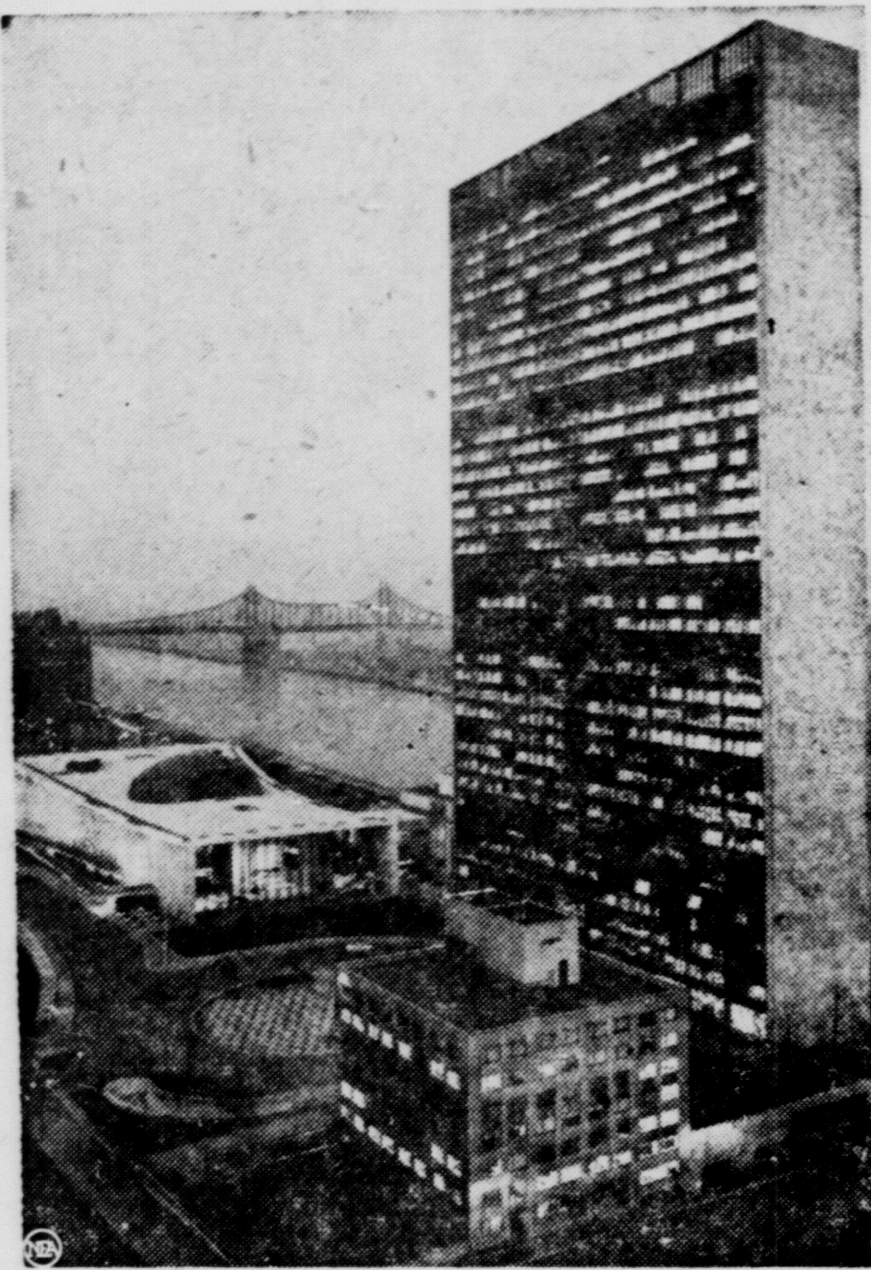

In the eerie light of a jungle campfire Mau Maus swear a blood oath as their leader cries: "We can expect nothing from the UN — it is the tool of our oppressor." In the shabby tent camps of the Moslem refugees next the old city of Jerusalem two men with red fez, slough from a meager diet, post a sign lettered in shaky Arabic: "Remember the UN — it helped steal your home."

SUPPORTERS OF the United Nations insist these people have expected too much — at least they have a forum. For example, there have been appeals for mistreated South African minorities, UN has done nothing.

But spokesmen for the oppressed have "embarrassed" South Africa and improvements — ever so slight — have been made by the government itself. They argue: Publicity is a UN weapon.

But while the Soviet Press plays up weaknesses in the Free World, the Communists cannot be "embarrassed" by bad publicity at home. In their half of the earth censors have taken the old line "No news is good news" and added "for communism."

However, those who plead for the UNITED NATIONS, NEW YORK: As a meeting hall for peace, it is ignored by the big power contestants at Geneva.

UN say it has forced Soviet diplomats to operate on a global stage. Their arrogant performance has offended millions in a free world audience who — 10 years ago — thought they were bearable.

Each "veto" shriek from the mouth of a Vishinsky does more to brand Russia "non-cooperative" than a million accusations by anti-Communist orators.

Even about this there are doubts. An American Legion representative writes: "We can expect nothing from the UN that will not serve the Soviet Union."

OPPONENTS FEEL the Soviets care not about bad publicity abroad — but are delighted to watch the Free World divide itself as we have on colonies, racial segregation, Israel vs. Arabia, recognition of Red China, equal responsibilities in the Korean War.

And two of our strongest hopes for the defense of Asia and Europe — Japan and West Germany — are impatient because they are denied admission.

So the debate continues. It is no longer on "How much good will the UN do?" but "Is the UN worthwhile?"

The American people, in a recent poll, approved continued membership in the UN by 85 per cent — but with equal agreement said they had little faith in the ability of the UN to solve specific problems.

LARGELY RESPONSIBLE for today's global gloom are the politicians of 1944 who treated UN with the same glib carelessness they treat local issues. They did not bother to realize that while a campaign for votes is soon forgotten — the campaign for peace is eternal. They overlooked history — and oversold UN.

In a frank survey, the UN Secretary General, realistic Norwegian Dag Hammarskjöld, says: "There was a widespread illusion (10 years ago) that UN would be able to enforce peace and impose the settlement of political disputes. This illusion has, of course, been thoroughly shattered."

And the Chief U. S. Delegate to UN, Henry Cabot Lodge, remarked: "The UN was not created in order to bring us to heaven, but in order to save us from hell."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

One Midwest congressman is in a grudge fight with that agency of our government which works from daybreak to backbreak trying to keep pure and unpoisonous the food you'll put on your table tonight.

Because of a grudge fight a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee plans to scoop $100,000 from the Food and Drug Administration pocketbook. That means some of the 200 federal inspectors—who now must cover the 96,000 plants through which most of your food is processed—will be fired.

They'll be laid off, although it would take the full force (which lost 80 men last year) 12 years to thoroughly inspect each of the food plants now under its jurisdiction.

The least that can be said is that the slash of the paycane $100,000 will hit the pocketbooks of the housewives of the country if not the health of their families.

AS WE GET IT from one of the officials of the AFL union now leading the fight against the trimmed budget, the slash will mean that meat inspectors will not be able to make their scheduled rounds.

That may not hurt the quality of the meat you eat, but it will definitely jack up the price. Here's how it is explained by an old crusading friend of mine, Joe Belsky, vice-president of the AFL's Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butcher Workmen's International:

"For the most part no steers, hogs, etc., can be slaughtered without a federal inspector's okay," Belsky said. "If the budget is slashed and inspectors are lopped off, the remaining men will have to double up. As it is now some of them must cover three or four smaller meat plants in some cities. If the force is cut, they'll get eight or ten, and the plants may not be bunched together in one neighborhood."

"So our members will have to wait around, sometimes for hours, before slaughtering and handling the meat. This will increase the labor cost and it will increase the cost of meat."

"Our union is also fighting on another front. There's a move to economize in a little known field. At the moment, you might tell your readers, it is the government's practice to pick up the cost of cattle, etc., which are sick and can't be used for food."

Suit Dropped Against Four Tobacco Firms

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ira C. Lowe of Festus, Mo., who blamed his lung cancer on heavy cigarette smoking, has withdrawn his $250,000 damage suit against four tobacco firms and a food store chain.

Lowe filed his suit in federal court last March. The withdrawal yesterday was not explained and Lowe's attorney, Donald Siegel, said he couldn't discuss it. The action was without prejudice, thus the suit can be filed again.

Lowe said when filing the suit he smoked more than two packs of cigarettes daily from 1930 to 1952 at which time his right lung was removed after cancer was found.

Richmond C. Coburn, attorney for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., one of the defendants, said the firms had made no effort to settle the case out of court because in their opinion the best medical evidence indicates that cigarette smoking does not cause lung cancer.

Others named in the suit were American Tobacco Co., P. Lorillard Co., Brown and Williams Tobacco Corp., and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., operator of the store where Lowe said he bought the cigarettes.

Midway Grangers Will See Movies

Two Ohio Bell Telephone Co. movies will be shown during the lecture hour of the Midway Grange meeting June 24 at 8:30. Carl Williams, commercial manager of the local plant, completed the arrangements.

In addition, the annual baking and sewing contest, supervised by the home economics committee, will be held. The contest for adults will be for one piece cotton house dresses, while for youths 21 and under, cotton pajamas will be judged.

Juveniles 10 to 14 will enter cotton sleeveless blouses while children 5 to 9 will be judged on doll dresses.

The baking contest will be on banana bread. The winner will advance to the county contest at the Lisbon Fair later this summer.

She's Capital's Lady GOP Boss

Bertha Adkins Is Out To Control The Feminine Vote

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A soft-spoken former college dean is Washington's big - wheel lady Republican. Which means that Bertha Adkins right now is busier than a co-ed during freshman week.

Miss Adkins is out to corral the feminine vote this fall. As the Director of Women's Activities for the GOP, she believes that "women will put over the coming Congressional elections."

Miss Adkins has left on an over-the-back-fence tour, armed with a tape recorder.

"I want to sit down with women and see what they're thinking on issues," she explained before taking off. In the six weeks' trek, confined mostly to small cities, Miss Adkins will talk politics on a woman-to-woman basis.

SHE'LL RECORD the ladies'

BERTHA ADKINS: "Women take things more personally..."

are interested in different issues than men," Miss Adkins said. "But they take on a different aspect. Women are subjective. They take things more personally."

"On an issue like taxes, for instance, women are likely to interpret them rather more quickly in terms of their effect on their home and the family budget."

Concerning the economic picture, Miss Adkins declared they are getting reports from across the country on how it's being distorted.

"IN SOME PLACES we know figures have been bandied about on how bad unemployment is supposed to be. A man from Minnesota came in and said the people there really believe there are long breadlines in the East."

"One of the most encouraging things to me," she added, "is that when you hear women talking on issues now, they want to know the facts."

Besides being big chief of the lady Republicans, Miss Adkins also boasts such titles as assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee, and in her own home state, national committee-woman for Maryland.

She admits to the nickname of "Tad" which is what GOP chairman Leonard Hall likes to call her when he gets the chance.

MISS ADKINS WENT from small town campus to big time politics in 1946 when she returned to Salisbury, Md., to live with her father following the death of her mother. Previously she was Dean of Women at Western Maryland College and dean in residence at Bradford Junior College in Massachusetts.

For years her father, E. S. Adkins, had been a perennial Republican candidate in Maryland's heavily Democratic first district. Miss Adkins pitched in to work for the election of Republican Edward Miller to Congress. When Miller copped the district's first Republican seat in 25 years, Miss Adkins found herself launched in politics.

When Mrs. Lulu Powell decided to retire in 1948 as Maryland and national committeewoman, Miss Adkins was supported for the job. "IT WASN'T BECAUSE of me," she said, modestly. She figured maybe the first district thought her family had something coming. "My father and grandfather had run for things for years just so there would be some Republican name on the ballot."

One thing about her job that Miss Adkins has down pat by now is speech giving. She writes her own and doesn't start until the night before it's to be delivered. Draft number one is done in longhand on yellow lined paper around 11 p.m. and polished up until one in the morning. It gets another going over at breakfast.

Even when Miss Adkins is not meeting deadlines, she burns the midnight oil. She reads and — you guessed it — that includes mystery stories.

This $4,000 South Broadway home is not elaborate; $4,000 doesn't buy a mansion. Five rooms and bath for $4,000. 1st floor bath. Where else could you invest $4,000 and get a return of over $1 per cent per month. $4,000 doesn't sound like a lot of money. I'd say it was a pretty good house for $4,000. It wouldn't take long to pay $4,000 off and have a clean equity. This house is listed at $4,000.

Jobs Scarcer, Workers Appear Less Willing To Strike

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Now that jobs are scarcer, are workers less willing to strike?

With strike idleness for the first four months of this year running at a postwar low, the answer appears to be yes.

But to say that workers are less willing to strike doesn't mean they won't if they think the issues important. Just last month an AFL union settled a strike that had gone on for 10 months at a Norwalk, Conn., hat factory. The issue was job security.

That single walkout cost the union, a small one, nearly two million dollars in strike benefits. The workers themselves lost an estimated four million dollars in wages.

Last year was a relatively peaceful one in labor relations. Strike idleness amounted to less than half what it was in 1952.

Yet, it was generally overlooked that the number of strikes last year was more than 5,000—nearly a record, although the walkouts were generally small ones that didn't last very long.

So far this year both the number of strikes and resulting idleness are running at the lowest point since World War I.

This seeming reluctance of workers to engage in strikes these days is probably due mainly to the business situation—a realization that employers don't have as many dollars to spend for wage increases as they once had.

Recent plant surveys, however, have strongly indicated that while workers support union objectives they also sympathize with their employers' problems.

These studies show that most workers have "dual loyalty"—that is, while they may be ardent union members, they also have a considerable respect and allegiance for the boss.

It was found that even foremen, who are supposed to represent management in small groups of workers, and union stewards, who represent the union in such worker groups, are loyal to both company and union.

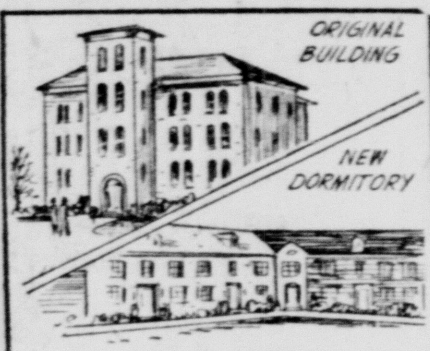

This "dual loyalty" was found even in cases where individual company officers or union leaders were unpopular.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, in analyzing these research findings recently, said "they have definitely disproved the Marxian philosophy of class conflict."

"As long as the company and the union do not represent conflicting forces and try to pull the worker in different directions," Mitchell said, "the workers can be 'loyal' to both and well disposed toward each."

"When there is a conflict between them, however, the employee must choose which allegiance shall moti-vat his action in the particular situation and circumstances. He must choose between company and union.

"It is to the advantage, therefore, of employer, union, employee and public not to have any conflict, so that the worker can feel a favorable and friendly identification with both his company and union."

Late last year the CIO United Auto Workers struck military airplane producing plants at the North American Aviation Co. at Columbus, Ohio, and Los Angeles. The strike, which lasted two months, was ultimately settled pretty much on the company's terms. The experience apparently didn't sit too well with some of the workers. Many quit the union.

To help build back membership, the union has put the Columbus local under an "administrator," meaning that it is now run by the union's national headquarters.

The union started an extraordinary organizing drive at North American's Los Angeles plants with initiation fees waived and a grand prize of (A) a new automobile or (B) an all-expense-paid trip for two to Hawaii, plus luggage and clothes, for the member enrolling the most new members.

Thus, in these days when workers have some degree of loyalty to both, the union and the employer are handling their relationships with workers more carefully.

Benjamin Franklin never requested or received a patent for any of his discoveries, although he is ranked as the greatest inventive genius of his age.
